Legislation and Matters Arising

Secondary Legislation

- The Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure and Section 62A Applications) (England) (Amendment) Order 2021 was laid on 16 July 2021 for public services infrastructure and fire safety matters. Full details are here.
- Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development etc) (England) (Amendment) (No 2) Order 2021 has been laid to take account of consequential changes to permitted development rights resulting from the above legislation. The Order introduces new prior approvals in respect of fire safety. The changes to permitted development rights will come into force on 1 August 2021. Full details are here.

Written Ministerial Statements

Article 4 Directions

- The Secretary of State for Housing, Communities and Local Government laid a Written Ministerial Statement setting out a new policy on the use of Article 4 Directions. The new policy came into effect on 1 July 2021.

The policy includes new text for paragraph 53 of the National Planning Policy Framework. It states Article 4 Directions are used in a highly targeted way; and are well-evidenced so there is clear justification for their introduction. In summary:

- For change from commercial to residential uses Article 4 Directions are limited to situation where it is “necessary to avoid wholly unacceptable adverse impacts...”
- In all other cases where it is “necessary to protect local amenity or the well-being of the area....”
- For all cases Article 4 Directions should “apply to the smallest geographical area possible.”

Building Beautiful Places

- The Secretary of State for Housing, Communities and Local Government made a Written Ministerial Statement on the 20 July 2021 to put beauty and design at the heart of the local planning system. The statement details publication of the revised National Planning Policy Framework; launch of the National Model Design Code; and the Government’s response to the consultation on both documents. The changes take forwards the recommendations of the Building Better, Building Beautiful Commission that national policy should place a stronger focus on the creation of beautiful buildings and beautiful places.

Emerging Legislation

Government Bills

- Clean Air (Human Rights) Bill 2019-20: amongst other things the Bill establishes the right to breathe clean air; requires the Secretary of State to achieve and maintain clean air in England and Wales; and to enhance the powers, duties and functions of the Environment Agency, the Committee on Climate Change, local authorities (including port authorities), the Civil Aviation Authority, Highways England, Historic England and Natural England in relation to air pollution. The Bill has not been taken forward into the 2021-22 session of Parliament.

- Environment Bill 2019-21, 2021-22: amongst other things the Bill aims to make provision about targets, plans and policies for improving the natural environment, for statements and reports about environmental protection, conservation covenants, and about air quality. The Government has reintroduced the Bill and has said that it demonstrates a 'commitment to tackling climate change and to protecting and restoring our natural environment for future generations'. A line by line examination of the Bill took place on 14 July 2021 and amendments to several clauses were discussed. The Report Stage is scheduled to begin on 6 September 2021.

Private Members' Bills

- Climate and Ecology Bill 2019-21. The Bill requires the Prime Minister to achieve climate and ecology objectives; to give the Secretary of State a duty to create and implement those objectives; to establish a Citizens' Assembly; and to give duties to the Committee on Climate Change regarding the objectives and strategy. The Bill was presented to Parliament on 2 September 2020. The Second Reading is due to take place on 10 September 2021.
- Planning (Proper Maintenance of Land) Bill 2019 – 21. The Bill makes provision for increased fines for failures to comply with a notice under section 215 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990. Jonathan Gullis MP made positive reference to historic buildings and Historic England. It was introduced to Parliament under the Ten Minute Rule. The Second Reading in the House of Commons is due to take place on 14 January 2022.
- Planning (Enforcement) Bill 2021-22. The Bill to create a national register of persons who have committed planning offences and introduce tougher penalties was introduced on 16 June 2021. The Bill is to receive its second reading on 19 November 2021.

Private Bills

- Highgate Cemetery Bill: The Bill needed a 'Wharnclyff' Examination to comply with certain standing orders concerning the consents of owners, members and directors of companies. In May 2021 the Bill formally passed in the Lords and was sent to the Commons where it is proceeded through Second House Examination. It is currently waiting a date for the Committee Stage.

Heritage Planning Case Database

- Historic England tweets planning decisions of heritage interest, via @HeritageAdvice, and these are then collated into the Heritage Planning Case Database. This is a searchable online database of appeal and call-in decisions relating to planning permission (that affects a heritage asset) and listed building consent. Cases have been summarised using a standard list of search terms, for ease of use; searches can also be carried out by address, date or decision reference.
- There have been changes to the Unesco World Heritage Site list with the City of Liverpool de-listed and the City of Bath inscribed to recognise the international qualities of the spa town. The City of Bath now has a rare double World Heritage Site listing. Further details can be found here.

Policy

National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF)

Summary

- The revised NPPF was published on 20 July 2021 and includes changes to paragraph and footnote numbers, addition of a new paragraph 198 to heritage policies, an update as to how Article 4 Directions are used (following the Written Ministerial Statement on 1 July 2021), an extended definition of the presumption in favour of sustainable development, introduction of mandatory design codes for local planning authorities and an updated test of soundness for development plans to be compliant with other national planning policy.

Heritage

- A new policy (paragraph 198) has been introduced which states “In considering any applications to remove or alter a historic statue, plaque, memorial or monument (whether listed or not), local planning authorities should have regard to the importance of their retention in situ and, where appropriate, of explaining their historic and social context rather than removal.”

Design

- Beauty and place-making become a strategic theme in the NPPF with references embedded throughout.
- Chapter 12 introduces the mandatory preparation of design guides and codes by local planning authorities, which should be “consistent with the principles set out in the National Design Guide and National Model Design Code...”
- Chapter 12 gives ‘significant weight’ to development which reflects local design policies and government guidance; and details the basis for decision making on design matters.
- There is also an emphasis on making use of trees in new developments through new planting or retention of existing trees.

Sustainable Development

- There is a greater emphasis on the environment (including the historic environment) and sustainability in paragraphs 8 and 11 of the revised NPPF.
- There is an extended definition of the presumption in favour of sustainable development in paragraph 11 with all plans promoting “a sustainable pattern of development that seeks to...improve the environment...” alongside references to infrastructure and climate change.

Sustainable Use of Minerals

- Revisions to paragraph 211 place a greater emphasis on how to meet any demand for the extraction of building stone needed for the repair of heritage assets, taking account of the need to protect designated sites. There is no longer a reference to small-scale extraction at, or close to, relic quarries.

Guidance
